I love the details as well! The little wooden button enclosure is perfect for keeping your goodies safe without a zipper and it comes with bright side panels if the brown just doesn't stand out enough for you. Today the OGIO brand name is synonymous with fashionable and cutting edge bag designs. It's advertised as a great shopping cheap coach bags, but I use it around town as well considering how easy it is to cram everything inside. This innovative company has a huge line of bags, including everything from wheeled duffel bags to stylish golf club bags .

I picked up this bag from a friend who was giving it away and instantly fell in love with it. It's made of jute, a plant fiber used to make certain sacks and rope so it's long lasting AND eco-friendly! Still, it keeps a certain fashionable appeal so I look good carrying it around. All together, one of my favorite promotional coach bags ever.

Want to improve the quality of your brand? It's as easy as putting your company name and logo on a desirable OGIO promotional bag. Once you've got this powerful marketing tool at your disposal, you have plenty of options: You can use the bag to incentivize employees, give it as a holiday gift to top clients, thank loyal staff members for their years of effort, or even re-sell the bags at a higher price point to generate some additional income for your business. The choice is yours!

Check out this promotional bag from an ambient advertising campaign in Bulgaria. The local beer company, called Shumensko, created a bag imprinted with an image of a case of their beer. When people hold the bag by the handle, it creates the visual effect that someone is holding a heavy 20-pack with no effort, coach outlet As you can see from the picture, the effect is especially pronounced when the bag is held by grannies or young kids. This is one imprinted bag that definitely captures attention, and although we've seen this concept before, creativity has preserved its effectiveness.
