
my air yeezy shoes

It seems weird to me that an advertising agency itself is trying to stimulate environmentally responsible bag usage instead of on behalf of one of its clients. I still probably should have thrown in some sunscreen though— even only I was only there for about an hour, I still got a sunburn and an air yeezy, It was FINALLY nice out this weekend, so I took the time to make a quick trip to the beach (one of the luxuries of living near the water). It was perfect for holding everything I needed for an hour sitting down at the beach— and certainly looked more at home in the sand than my friend's purse.

It was spur of the moment and I wasn't swimming or laying out, so I didn't need to bring a lot of stuff— so I just threw a book and my air yeezys shoes in the promotional drawstring backpack I got from my university and headed down the block. This was really too interesting not to post: TBWA Vancouver, an advertising agency, came out with a line of promotional tote bags to promote eco-friendly practices. The bags appear to be targeting men, with hunting scenes and slogans like, "See ladies, I'm sensitive," imprinted on them. Either way, I guess it's a good thing that they are promoting the use of eco-friendly products. If you're interested, you can purchase the bags here.
